Date: January 2026

Welcome

Youth Futures Foundation was established in 2019 with the clear mandate to address the cycle of systemic employment disparities, discrimination and disadvantage that marginalised young people in England face. In our first five years we have built the evidence to better understand why these different employment outcomes exist, and their long-term impact on our young people. The stark reality remains, however, that a staggering 1 in 8 young people are not in education, employment or training (NEET), with those from marginalised backgrounds facing even greater barriers than their peers.

The challenge is big but so is the prize for getting it right, not only for young individuals but our society and economy at large. To get there our country needs clear ambition, which is why the heart of our new strategy sets the goal that England should aim to have the lowest NEET rate in the OECD by 2050; a statement of intent we hope others will join us in calling for.

As we look to the future, it is right we set direction for the unique and privileged role Youth Futures plays as the What Works Centre for youth employment. Not just in building the evidence base on the barriers and solutions to this persistent challenge; but in proactively influencing those who hold the levers of change in policy and practice to unlock a generation of talent.

Established as a small start-up with a big mission, Youth Futures' early years saw the organisation adapt swiftly and decisively. Less than six months into operations, we – like so many others – were navigating a global pandemic that brought with it an unprecedented challenge for the labour market, young people and the front-line organisations supporting them. I am enormously proud of everything the team were able to learn and achieve during this period, and way they adapted to support those most in need at the time.

We promote strong coordination and partnership working across government, funders, delivery organisations and employers. Our flagship £16 million Connected Futures Fund aims to address the fragmentation of youth employment and skills delivery in the places that need it most, so that young people furthest from the job market receive consistent high-quality support to address complex needs.

We continue to strengthen our organisation and team as we grow and evolve and this role will play a crucial part in supporting the organisation in achieving its vision, mission and business goals. If you are passionate about creating a better future for young people, we look forward to hearing from you.

Barry Fletcher, CEO

About us

Who we are

Youth Futures Foundation is the national What Works Centre for youth employment, with a specific focus on marginalised young people.

What we do

We find and generate high-quality evidence to better understand England's youth unemployment and inactivity challenge, and most importantly to learn what solutions work to address this. We do this through bringing together the best evidence already in existence and build on this by conducting original research and testing and evaluating promising interventions to produce much needed new evidence where there are gaps.

We put evidence into action with policy makers, employers and funders who have the means to make direct impactful change for young people. We do this through translating the evidence practically for stakeholders to use and understand, and through partnerships and engagement to influence, inform and support them as decision makers to back evidence-based interventions that work.

Youth Inclusion

Throughout our work, we proudly involve the voices, perspectives and participation of young people experiencing marginalisation, through our Future Voices Group, our young Board members and beyond. We believe that the young people who are most affected by the system have invaluable perspective and experience, and therefore must be at the heart of efforts to change it.

We actively ensure that all young people engaged with Youth Futures Foundation meaningfully influence our work and advocate within the employment system while also developing their skills and personal outcomes. Our Future Voices Group programme harnesses these insights to craft impactful narratives that influence the knowledge, practice and behaviour of key actors and audiences within the system such as policymakers and employers. The group also participate in decision-making and projects throughout Youth Futures.

Vision, Mission and 'North star' goals

Vision and Mission

A vision that speaks to our core beliefs and aspirations for all young people.

An action-orientated mission as a What Works centre focussing on young people facing marginalisation.

'North Star' goals

Two 'north star' goals to set long term ambition for us and others. They speak to the impact needed for the future to be different for a marginalised young person born today when entering working life.]

Equity, diversity and Inclusion statement

The young people we aim to serve - and the challenges they face - are all unique. We need to build a team that reflects this diversity, is highly skilled and committed. Our commitment to inclusion across all protected characteristics, experiences and socioeconomic background forms the cornerstone of our work.

We work hard to ensure we have a diverse and inclusive workforce. We use identity-blind software for all our permanent recruitment campaigns to reduce unconscious bias during recruitment. We have flexible working policies which are kept under review and many of the more flexible working practices we adopted during lockdown have been retained. The recruitment of our team around our three hubs of Birmingham, Leeds and London has enabled us to attract a greater diversity of talent than simply focusing recruitment in one city.

In building the Board, the Future Voices Group, and making external appointments to the Grants Committee, we have also ensured our governance and advisory structures contain a broad diversity of background and experience.

We are committed to encouraging an open, collaborative, safe and inclusive working environment. We have an EDI committee, formed of a group of employees, with a senior leadership team lead, who have a keen interest or experience of EDI and work together on issues or concerns related to equity, diversity and inclusion at work. The committee address and implement proactive strategies relating to EDI, support policy reviews and revisions, be the employees voice to Senior Leadership Team members and share feedback for continual improvement on our organisational wide values and commitment to EDI.

We are Disability Confident and have committed to ensuring that we attract, recruit, retain, support and develop disabled people in the workplace. We aim to continually improve and develop our talent attraction and inclusive recruitment practices to be reflective of our organisational behaviours and culture.

We are committed to the charter as an employer positive about mental health in the workplace and are a Mindful Employer.

We are a Living Wage Employer, as we believe a hard day's work deserves a fair day's pay. Our base rate of hourly pay is in line with the London Living Wage.

We are committed to showing salary information on all of the roles that we advertise both internally and externally, along with sharing our pay scale information internally.

The Partnerships Manager will play a pivotal role in delivering Youth Futures Foundation's Employer Strategy, embedding and scaling evidence-based practice across employer networks to create systemic change in how employers recruit, develop and retain young people.

This role focuses on influencing employer behaviour at scale – using evidence, partnerships and networks to embed the evidence of what works across organisations, sectors and places. It does not involve delivering employability support or 1:1 services to employers or young people.

You will work with employer organisations, networks, sector bodies and system actors to ensure that Youth Futures' evidence shapes decision-making, practice and investment – improving young people's access to good work over the long term.

You will have a passion for tackling youth unemployment and a strong interest in equity, diversity and inclusion issues.

- ❖ Drive measurable employer behaviour and practice change by working through employer networks, intermediaries and sector bodies.
- ❖ Translate Youth Futures' research and evaluation findings into clear, actionable insights that influence employer decision-makers.
- ❖ Ensure partnerships focus on impact, sustainability and legacy, rather than short-term activity or delivery.
- ❖ Identify and develop new partnerships that align with Youth Futures' Employer Strategy, producing clear partnership propositions and ways of working.
- ❖ Embed robust performance and impact management across partnerships, capturing evidence of organisational and system-level change.
- ❖ Connect external partnerships with internal teams and programmes (including Employer Trials, Talent Unlocked and Connected Futures), ensuring learning flows both ways.
- ❖ Work closely with Research, Evidence and Impact colleagues to shape employer-facing outputs and ensure evidence is used appropriately and effectively.
- ❖ Surface employer insights and learning to inform Youth Futures' wider strategy, research priorities and policy engagement.

- ❖ Act as a trusted day-to-day partner lead, maintaining strong relationships while maintaining a clear focus on outcomes and evidence.
- ❖ Contribute to a collaborative, inclusive and learning-focused organisational culture.

What success looks like in this role

- ❖ Employers and employer organisations adapt policies, programmes or practices as a result of Youth Futures' evidence.
- ❖ Youth Futures' insights are embedded into employer networks, guidance, standards or sector initiatives.
